What's new since last month

Voices of Culture Structured Dialogue: Skills, Training and Knowledge Transfer

ICCROM has collaborated in a consortium of 35 cultural heritage organizations under the leadership of the European Commission to develop a joint report with recommendations on the topic of "Skills, Training & Knowledge Transfer in Cultural Heritage, encompassing traditional and emerging heritage". The process was coordinated with meetings in Brussels, Belgium in June and September 2017, while the finalized report was presented to the European Commission in Bucharest, Romania in October 2017.

New Publication: Unlocking Sound and Image Heritage

SOIMA: Unlocking Sound and Image Heritage is a web-based and freely downloadable book that offers tips and advice from dedicated professionals from all corners of the world, for the preservation and creative use of sound and image heritage. Featuring compelling case examples and strategies founded in evidence-based research, this resource will interest collectors, users and educators alike.

Putting people at the heart of conserving nature and culture

Travelling the length of Italy – from Naples via Rome to Trento – 22 participants have explored the challenge of putting people back into the centre of conservation. The aim of the People-Centred Approaches (PCA) course has been to strengthen practitioners' understanding of communities as a core component of heritage management and so ensuring that natural and cultural heritage has a dynamic and mutually beneficial role in society today and long into the future.

First Aid for Cultural Heritage Design Workshop

On 16-20 October, ICCROM hosted a design workshop on First Aid for Cultural Heritage in Times of Crisis (FAC), organized in partnership with the Smithsonian Institution, USA and the Prince Claus Fund, the Netherlands. Other partner institutions participating include UNESCO, CRAterre (France), Italian Civil Protection, and Ritsumeikan University (Japan). The design workshop aimed to review the existing First Aid international training, and identify content as well as activities for developing a self sustainable and effective network of cultural first aiders.

UNESCO and ICCROM Join Forces to Protect Cultural Heritage

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and the International Centre for the Study of the Preservation and Restoration of Cultural Property (ICCROM) signed a landmark agreement on Friday 13 October in a new effort to address mounting threats to cultural properties worldwide.

ICCROM attends G7 Roma-Lyon Group meeting

The second G7 Roma-Lyon Group meeting was held in Rome from 3 to 5 October. This work group, created under the 2001 G8 Italian Presidency, is run by the law enforcement sector and is devoted to formulating counter-terrorism strategies and combating transnational crimes.

Peter Rockwell Donation

In September 2017, Mr Peter Rockwell, noted sculptor and specialist in historic stone carving techniques, made a significant donation of books and photographic documentation to the ICCROM Library and Archive. These materials were gifted on the occasion of Rockwell's return to the United States after over five decades of residence in Rome. They are intended by Rockwell to support the research of ICCROM's community of conservation scholars and professionals.

ICCROM Joins UNESCO in Lauding Syria Top Antiquities Official

ICCROM's Director-General Dr Stefano De Caro joined Irina Bokova, the Director-General of UNESCO in praising Dr Maamoun Abdulkarim of Syria, for his tireless efforts to safeguard the country's cultural assets during these years of war. Dr Abdulkarim's five-year term as Syria's Director-General for Museums and Antiquities coincided with a devastating conflict which has left hundreds of thousands of people dead, and has greatly imperiled Syria's rich cultural heritage.
