What’s new since last month

Berlin Call to Action
ICCROM supports the "Berlin Call to Action - cultural heritage for the future of Europe" promoted by Europa Nostra. With them, we invite all those who care for Europe's past, present and future to sign and share it widely!

Paper and Water: A Guide for Conservators, the handbook published by Gerhard Banik and Irene Brückle in 2011, after a decade of close cooperation with ICCROM, has been republished in a revised and expanded 2nd edition by Anton Siegl in Munich, Germany.

European Cultural Heritage Summit – Sharing Heritage, Sharing Values
The European Cultural Heritage Summit, held in Berlin, Germany from 18 to 24 June 2018, provided a venue to reflect on the present and future of cultural heritage in Europe.

SOIMA survey for collection assessment
As part of the Sound and Image Collections Conservation (SOIMA) programme efforts to revitalize training and create self-help materials, we have designed a simple survey to understand better why collection assessment continues to be challenging, and what can be done to overcome this challenge. This survey is anonymous and takes less than five minutes. Your feedback is important for us!

ICCROM-Sharjah Director honoured in Egyptian awards ceremony
The Egyptian National Organization for Urban Harmony, operating under Egypt's Ministry of Culture in collaboration with UNESCO, has chosen to honour two prominent architectural heritage specialists from Egypt and the Arab world, for their significant contributions to safeguard cultural heritage.

Rice terraces in Mu Cang Chai, Vietnam: Implementation of community-based tourism
Over recent years the terraced rice fields in Vietnam have become much better known. This is particularly true of Mu Cang Chai, a remote district located in the country’s Northwest mountain range. Becoming an emerging tourist destination can be an opportunity for local socio-economic development, but it also poses a potential threat to the integrity of this complex living structure in rural settings.
