

Youth Forum – Voices of Now and the Future

The Youth Forum is intended to create shared knowledge and understanding by fostering intergenerational dialogue. Voices of Now and the Future will bring together youth leaders, diverse professionals and knowledge holders to develop a common understanding and envisage positive change. Through presentations, multi-media and participatory activities, strategies for engaging youth in culture-based climate action will be identified and shared.

Session Details

Location: Virtual

Link to Register: <https://forms.gle/bgFFT5dWq1bLxS9TA>

Session 1 - Intergenerational Dialogue on Linking Climate, Culture and Peace

Date: 25 January 2022

Time: 10:00 - 11:30 Rome (CET, UTC+1)

11:00 - 12:30 Cairo (UTC+2)

12:00 - 13:30 Nairobi (UTC+3)

Session 2 - My Voice Counts (Please note limited capacity for Session 2)

Date: 26 January 2022

Time: 9:30 - 11:00 Rome (CET, UTC+1)

10:30 - 12:00 Cairo (UTC+2)

11:30 - 13:00 Nairobi (UTC+3)

Youth Forum Leader

Repaul Kanji,
Research Scientist & Program Manager,
India

The Youth Forum is made up of two 90-minute sessions on 25 and 26 January 2022.

The first session of the Youth forum, Intergenerational Dialogue on Linking Climate, Culture and Peace, will feature several 5-minute presentations drawing connections between the climate crisis, culture, heritage, peacebuilding and disaster risk reduction. These presentations will be used to spark an inclusive and lively discussion among the attendees.

If you are a student or already working in a youth group, knowledge-holder, experienced professional who would like to be part of this intergenerational dialogue.

Register now for free!

The second session, My Voice Counts, places emphasis on communication, collaborative thinking, and the cross-sectoral discussion on science, technology, solidarity and morality. Multimedia presentations will be followed by a Town Hall and an accompanying live chat.

Who Can Participate?

Everyone, and we especially encourage participation from the Middle East and Africa.