A. Introduction

A.1 Director-General’s Vision for the Biennium

Cultural heritage in all its forms is inextricably tied to our human fabric. It is vividly present throughout our lives, permeating social, economic, and environmental dimensions. Conserving heritage and promoting its benefits for all people is a powerful way to transform our world into a more sustainable and equitable one. In the face of critical issues such as global change, disasters, economic crises, widespread conflicts and polarization, heritage offers unique opportunities for mitigation, adaptation, and resilience. It supports education, climate action, social cohesion and peacebuilding, economic innovation, and well-being.

This Programme of Activities and Budget stems from ICCROM’s Strategic Directions for 2018-2025, defined by the ICCROM Council, and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) of the United Nations Agenda 2030.

In this last biennium of the 2018-2025 strategic cycle, ICCROM will seek to consolidate the achievements of the past six years dedicated to addressing world concerns for cultural heritage, creating a diverse and inclusive global network, and strengthening and transforming the organization for the future. The latter includes a restructured, rebranded, and digitally transformed ICCROM that works more transparently and efficiently, has a stronger presence, and provides enhanced services and resources for its Member States. We will also evaluate the outcomes of our programmes and activities in the 2018-2025 period, demonstrating the relevance of ICCROM’s work to Member States and collecting meaningful data for ongoing improvements.

In preparation for the next strategic cycle, the Secretariat will work closely with the ICCROM Council to support the development of the Strategic Directions and Objectives for 2026-2031. This will include not only sharing insights gained during the implementation of the current cycle, but also unpacking the results of the Foresight Studies concluded in 2022-2023 to identify desirable outcomes for the world, for heritage and for ICCROM.

The budget scenario for the biennium is based on a 5% global inflation rate. It reflects the best available information at the time this document was prepared, taking a conservative approach to responsibly address the current economic uncertainty. With increasing operational costs, the amount of regular budget available for programme activities is significantly reduced, jeopardizing their successful implementation if additional resources are not mobilized. As always, ICCROM will strive to fulfill the ambitions expressed by its Member States. Nevertheless, I would like to urge all Member States to increase support and collaboration regarding ICCROM’s work beyond the regular contribution.

Our success can only be achieved by teaming up with governments and institutions, identifying new trajectories for partnerships and answering to present and future needs. This requires a strong focus, clear goals and an agile and streamlined Secretariat, able to meet the challenges and aspirations of our Member States. Thanks to ICCROM’s one-of-a-kind international, multidisciplinary and multicultural approach that leaves no one behind, and thanks to the dedication of staff and Council, we are up to the task.
Several Member States have already joined our collective efforts through generous voluntary or in-kind contributions. As a result, ICCROM will be able to sustain the offer of meaningful capacity-development opportunities around the world throughout this biennium. We thank China, India, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Monaco, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, the Republic of Korea, the Russian Federation, Spain, Switzerland, and the United Arab Emirates for their special support. The support of Member States through secondments is equally essential. We wish to thank Japan for their long-standing collaboration in this area, and those members, like the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia and Bahrain, who have committed to do the same. I hope that other Member States will follow suit. We also thank Norway and Switzerland for providing Voluntary Contributions for staff positions.

In 2024-2025, we will continue to strengthen ICCROM’s global leadership in heritage conservation through innovation and strategic collaborations. At the regional level, this includes our programmes and activities for Africa, the Arab States, Asia-Pacific and Latin America and the Caribbean, as well as ICCROM’s participation in key European research projects. At the international level, our programmatic focus remains on World Heritage, protecting heritage in times of crises, sustainability, and digital heritage. ICCROM will also continue to build capacity worldwide through training partnerships with Member States. We will systematically explore meaningful linkages across all programmes and activities to enhance ICCROM’s services. We will work closely with our regional and international partners to avoid duplication of efforts and to create meaningful synergies that maximize ICCROM’s impact. We will also seek new strategic partnerships in the spirit of Strategic Development Goal 17: Strengthen the means of implementation and revitalize the global partnership for sustainable development.

As a result of the digital transformation initiated in 2022-2023, ICCROM will be fully equipped and prepared to expand and improve its services to Member States through e-learning, online Library and Archival resources, enhanced communications infrastructure, and a smarter work environment. We will be able to engage more effectively and efficiently with Member States, partners, course participants and others through a dedicated stakeholder relationship-management system.

In constant pursuit of increased efficiency, accountability, and transparency, ICCROM will continue to establish, update, and enforce pertinent policies and regulations for staff and operations. Supported by the Human Resources Office established in 2022-2023, our consolidated performance management system will provide the basis for ongoing staff development and improved organizational planning to better serve Member States.

In today’s context of economic uncertainty, limited resources and active fundraising, public engagement must be a cornerstone of our strategy. The strategy includes increasing visibility of the programmes and ICCROM’s Secretariat, highlighting the ICCROM Library and Archives’ resources and increasing the offer of resources in multiple languages - while simultaneously finding new and engaging ways to raise awareness about the importance of conserving cultural heritage. We call on Member States to be part of this important work.

Budget envelope:

The proposed total budget envelope for the biennium amounts to EUR 16 898 582. Regular Contributions equate to EUR 8 266 725, or 48.92% of the total budget. For the remaining EUR 8 631 857, or 51.08%, ICCROM has EUR 6 502 123 of Voluntary Contributions already committed (in-hand), with the remaining EUR 2 129 734 (representing 12.60% of our total budget) to be fundraised for Programmes implementation.
A.2 Strategic Considerations

ICCROM’s Programme of Activities for 2024-2025 emanates from the Strategic Directions and Objectives established by Council for the period 2018-2025. The Programme is guided by ICCROM’s statutory mandate, vision, core values and guiding principles.

Strategic Directions and Objectives 2018-2025

Mission
Provide Member States with the best tools, knowledge, skills and enabling environment with which to preserve their cultural heritage in all of its forms, for the benefit of all people.

Vision
A world in which cultural heritage - its preservation, protection and celebration - is inextricably linked with notions of progress, inclusivity, well-being and stability.

Values & principles
Neutrality, inclusivity, diversity, sustainability, accessibility, flexibility, accountability, transparency, empowerment.

The Programme is strategically aligned with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) of the UN 2030 Agenda, embracing the common principle of ‘Transforming Our World’ and ensuring that no one is left behind. In this Decade of Action to deliver the SDGs, ICCROM is committed to demonstrating and enhancing the role of heritage and its conservation as an enabler and catalyst of equitable sustainable development. To achieve this, strategic partnerships with Member States and international organizations are essential for the successful implementation of proposed activities.

As we reach the conclusion of the current strategic cycle, over the next biennium priority will be given to evaluating its outcomes. Looking forward, the Programme of Activities for 2024-2025 will also continue to support strategic foresight initiatives to inform the development of ICCROM’s next strategic cycle (2026-2031), building upon the foresight activities already commenced in the 2022-2023 biennium. These activities will include deliberative workshops and surveys to assist ICCROM Council in the development of new strategic orientations, and to support the Secretariat in devising a new Programme of Activities in response to these.
A.3 Measuring Outcomes and Outputs

ICCROM continues to strengthen its outcomes-focused planning and performance management efforts to effectively report progress towards the Strategic Directions and Objectives established for the period 2018-2025. For the 2024-2025 biennium, the set of key performance indicators (KPIs) shown in Table 1 will be adopted for monitoring and evaluating ICCROM’s activities. The KPIs are organized according to each Strategic Direction and Objective. The corresponding targets have been disaggregated to illustrate the contribution of each activity. They are presented accordingly in sections B. Programme of Activities and C. Strengthening ICCROM.

The choice of indicators is influenced by the organization’s capacity to collect and aggregate relevant data across all activities. Periodic reporting to the ICCROM Council and Member States will take place through the Quarterly Reports and Reports of Implementation throughout the biennium.

ICCROM will review its key performance indicators during 2024-2025 in preparation for the next strategic cycle, to streamline and align the KPIs with the new strategic orientations set by ICCROM Council. The review will consider the experience of collecting such data in 2022-2023, as well as the new targets set by each programme/activity. Additional performance indicators will be developed during the biennium to reflect activities undertaken as part of ICCROM’s Digital Transformation.

A.4 Programme Structure Overview

ICCROM’s Programme of Activities for 2024-2025 is articulated through five interconnected key components: flagship programmes; prospective activities; training partnerships; research and advice; and strengthening ICCROM. These components share cross-cutting goals. The Programme is visualized within an overall strategic framework as per the diagram below. This framework creates opportunities for increased collaborative synergies between ICCROM programmes and with partner institutions in Member States.
ICCROM’s Flagship Programmes address world concerns to protect cultural heritage in times of crisis by reducing risk and building resilience, undertaking actions in view of climate change, and addressing emerging issues, such as linking natural and cultural heritage conservation, and sustainable development. The Flagship Programmes also respond to ICCROM’s strategic objective of supporting Africa’s cultural heritage. Through their capacity building activities, Flagship Programmes serve to sustain a diverse and inclusive global network, enhance community engagement, and strengthen awareness about heritage and conservation. Prospective Activities explore new approaches and topics and collect evidence to guide the development of future programmes. In 2024-2025, the regional focus will continue to be on Latin America and the Caribbean, as our goal is to continue boosting ICCROM’s presence in the region. ICCROM will explore new challenges and opportunities for sustaining digital heritage and innovative ways through which built heritage and collections conservation can contribute to sustainability.

ICCROM’s reach is further extended by Training Partnerships, through which ICCROM engages directly with Member States on capacity building. ICCROM also provides Research and Advice to deliver strategic information and foresight, share knowledge and respond to contemporary needs. Finally, Strengthening ICCROM focuses on making the organization more robust and smarter, modernizing and investing to improve efficiency and effectiveness, and enlarging ICCROM’s digital offerings to enhance its service delivery and worldwide impact.

E. Proposed Budget for the 2024-2025 Biennium

E.1 Introduction

This section presents the budget scenario prepared by ICCROM’s Secretariat, considering the impact of global economic uncertainty on inflation rates, and the most recent trends. It assumes a global inflation rate of 5%.

ICCROM remains committed to maintaining the quality and reach of its activities through more efficient use of its Regular Budget and through obtaining funding from Voluntary Contributions. ICCROM will continue to explore ways to reduce expenditures as much as possible, taking into consideration the higher administrative costs associated with ICCROM’s implementation of International Public Sector Accounting Standards (IPSAS). ICCROM’s reorganization, consolidated in the previous biennium, may also yield savings in staff costs. ICCROM will also look for savings in other areas and will continue to fine-tune its policy on administrative cost recovery to ensure that ICCROM has as many resources as possible directed towards programme activities.

In preparing this budget, all staff costs have been considered, taking into account all Defined Benefit Obligations. In order to allow ICCROM to be compliant with IPSAS principles, we accounted the expenditures related to actuarial evaluations for the After Service Health Insurance Fund and the Separation Payment Scheme (for General Service Staff only) in the staff costs.
Figure 1. Budget Evolution 2006-2025 (estimated on inflation up to December 2024) showing the reduction in purchasing power due to inflation (inflation rate 5%).

E.3 Scale of Assessment

Regarding the contributions of Member States to ICCROM’s budget, Article 2.5 of the Statutes states that, “Each Member State shall contribute to the budget of ICCROM at a rate fixed by the General Assembly.”

For the 2024-2025 biennium and at the time of preparation of the draft PAB, the ICCROM scale of assessment is derived from that adopted by the General Assembly of the United Nations for the years 2022, 2023 and 2024 (see document: United Nations General Assembly 76th plenary meeting 24 December 2021 doc. No A/RES/76/238 – Seventy-sixth session Agenda item 142 - Resolution adopted by the General Assembly on 24 December 2021 on the report of the Fifth Committee [A/76/383/Add.1]), adjusted to account for the two Organizations’ difference in membership.
